

MiCom 2021: 8th International Conference on Microbial Communication for Young Scientists

We invite you to the MiCom 2021 conference – a great platform to encourage discussions between young scientists and experts from all fields of research related to microbial communication.

The event features outstanding keynote lectures and a number of selected PhD and lightning talks. Workshops on diverse topics and social activities are also included. All these will take place in the frame of an online event.

Registration is open until March 21 (submission deadline of your talk abstract: February 22)!

Have a look at the MiCom website to get a glimpse on what awaits you and contact us for any questions/inquiries. Feel free to share this invitation with your colleagues and friends.

Kind regards,

The MiCom 2021 organization committee
