

Fighting infections in a new light

International Conference "Life meets Light" at Leibniz-HKI

September 4, 2018

Severe infections require rapid diagnosis, otherwise there is a risk of death. Under the motto "Life meets Light", biologists and physicists will present current results and new methods in the fight against infectious diseases on September 5 and 6, 2018. They get together with researchers from other disciplines at the international conference of the Leibniz ScienceCampus InfectoOptics in Jena.

Link to conference website